

Unit III: Group Behaviour (Summary Notes)

Unit III focuses on how people act when they are in a collective.

1. Groups in Organizations: Formation & Types

- Definition: A group is two or more individuals, interacting and interdependent, who have come together to achieve particular objectives.
- Types:

Groups

/ \

Formal Informal

1. Formal Group

- Created by organization
- Defined by the organization (e.g., a department).
- Example: Office team,

2. Informal Group

- Created naturally
- Based on personal relations
- Example: Friends(e.g., friends at the cafeteria).

Example

- Office:
 - Project team → Formal
 - Lunch friends → Informal
- Stages of Group Development (Tuckman's Model): (Most Important!)=>Group Formation

Group formation is the process of developing a group over time

A group does not become perfect immediately

It grows step by step

Definition

- Group formation is the process through which a group is created and develops over time

Diagram (VERY IMPORTANT)

Forming → Storming → Norming → Performing → Adjourning

Explanation (Simple)

1. Forming → People meet, No clarity
 2. Storming → Arguments/conflicts, Conflicts arise, Differences in opinions
 3. Norming → Rules set
 4. Performing → Work done
 5. Adjourning → Group ends

Example

- Your college project group:
 - First meeting → confusion
 - Then arguments
 - Finally teamwork

B. Group Decision Making

Groups often make better decisions than individuals, but they are slower.

- Techniques:
 - Brainstorming: Generating ideas without criticism.
 - Nominal Group Technique (NGT): Members meet but operate independently to rank ideas.
 - Delphi Technique: Expert opinions collected via questionnaires.

C. Communication & Control

- Communication: The transfer and understanding of meaning. In groups, it flows through formal channels (Chain of command) and informal channels (The Grapevine/Gossip).
 - Control: The process of monitoring activities to ensure they are being accomplished as planned.
